

November 2001

One for the corner

Want something for a specific corner in your drawing room? Srushti Collections is holding a sale of decorative candles, diyas, terracotta pots, sweet boxes, mirrors, stained glass, tile and sand paintings. If you are looking for some clothes and accessories, you can get them as well. There are some genuine Calcutta cotton sarees, bags and many more interesting items that would make ideal gifts for Diwali or Christmas.

The sale is on from November 1 to 4 at Safina Plaza.

For the love of the truffle

If you're dying to eat something not too sweet and not too run-of-the-mill, then try the truffles at Jus' Trufs. As the name suggests, this is a special range of truffles — soft centred, pure chocolate, coated with dark bitter sweet chocolate.

Run by Chandana Shah, the store is a one stop shop for custom made chocolates. And with the festive season underway, there are now several gift packs and hampers available beginning at Rs 50 to Rs 700.

In their signature range is Jus' Rocks that are crisp whole almonds, encased in dark, bitter-sweet chocolates. Jus Bisks are biscuits coated with milk chocolates. For rum lovers, there are rum truffles for that robust, warm and feel good taste besides plenty of other chocolate combinations to suit any chocolate passion, they are made fresh every day.

They are available from Monday to Sunday at The Bombay Store, Attitudes and Fabmart between November 1 -15.

Sunday special

Bangalore's rediscovering the charms of the Sunday brunch. One more place to while away those lazy mornings and afternoons is the Le Meridien. There's a buffet spread— including one for kiddies— glass of complimentary wine and a live jazz band. You can swim in the pool as well, between sipping the wine and listening to music. The brunch is from 11.30 am to 3 pm and costs Rs 350 plus taxes.